The year 2020 is one we will always remember.
We all had to stay at home and not be together.
It's not what we could have imagined or could ever predict.
It was the safest option so we didn't get sick.

It was a scary time for us and was hard to understand.
We watched Netflix, played with toys, and washed our hands.
For months, we wrote stories, read a lot, and did math at our home.
It wasn't like going to school, we felt all alone.

We blazed new paths and learned many awesome tech skills.

In the future, it could help us to pay the bills.

We're now tech experts, our teacher is saying.

We know Google and Seesaw, which are not just for playing.

We wanted to play with our friends and just be kids.

Because of the virus, we had to stay indoors instead.

We started the school year at home on Zoom;

then it was time to get back to the classroom.

We had to wash our hands often and not share supplies.
We worked super hard and gave our best tries.
